in the former case.

L'Unité Indo-Chinoise draws a very gloomy picture of the state of affairs prevailing in Annam and Tonquin. It says the recent events at Hué have had their counterpart in all the provinces of Tonquin beyond the contros actually occupied by the French. As to the Chineso they are nearly everywhere. Their presence is reported at Phu-Nho. in the province of Ninhun" by a few inches, Lammert being about as Binh, and they have attacked the Bamboo post situated at the extremity of the canal of the by Messes. The Chinese also oc cupy the left face of the mountains along the Favoured by the tide, the mixed team got the river Day. They thus form an immense circle of investment around the delta, and should they lend their assistance to the Hué mandarins it would be easy for them to out off French communications with the southern provinces of Annam. As to Lin Jung-fu, whom his followers were said to have assessmeted, he is more powerful than ever, and every one in Tonquin knows that he occupies the country between Hoa-Moo gratulated the Club on the excellent sports they and Tuyen-kwan. The health of the French troops is deplorable. The men are dying at the rate of fifty per day. This is only what might be expected seeing that medicines are wanting, that the buildings in which the soldiers are quartered are altogether unsuitable, that there are no proper arrangements for cooking, and that the men cannot be supplied with the water necessary for their daily wants. During the tropical-heat now prevailing in Tonquin to be deprived of water is the most horrible torment. At Hanol and Haiphong it is impossible to procure the least information as to what is passing in the provinces, and it is in the journals published in France that the news must be looked for. Our contemporary vigorously attacks the Tonquin administration, and goes on to say that the commercial sitution is no better, and that numerous failures are taking place at Hanci and Haiphong. In Annam the southern provinces, and more particularly those ing the whole case, because the whole defence of Phu-yen and Khanh-han, are given over to the most complete enerchy, and all communications are interrupted.
